

February 2012

The Museum of Natural History Vienna has purchased the entomological drawers from the company Majkowski in 2010 for the first time. I can confirm an exceptionally good quality of the drawers. They are very well processed and the wood is stable, but much lighter in weight than the one of the other drawers we have. The drawers are equipped with many practical details, as numbers that prevent mixing up the covers, or indentations that facilitate opening the drawers. We are also very pleased with the service – all staff members are cooperative and helpful in considering any special requirements, and also the prices are very competitive, even more considering the high quality standards.

I thus whole-heartedly recommend the company Majkowska to any other entomological institution!

Yours sincerely,

Mag. Dr. Martin Lödl
Head of the 2. Zoological Department
